Chamber will stay open after county gives cash

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The Chamber of Commerce office on Highway 35 has been given a stay of execution after county council agreed to provide an additional $8,000 in funding.

Management Committee chairman Don Shortreed announced the decision at last Wednesday's meeting of county council. The committee agreed to provide the funding after meeting with members of the chamber executive.

"We all realize and understand the position they're in," said Shortreed. "It's important that the chamber carry on. It's important for the office to stay open."

At the end of August, the chamber board of directors announced that a lack of money would forced it to suspend day-to-day operations at the office by the end of September.

Following the county's offer, the chamber issued a statement accepting the $8,000 and announcing that the office will stay open as long as the money holds out.

"The chamber would like to thank the county council members for their efforts at this time," said the statement. "It is also the hope that our new board will be able to meet with county council again after the fall elections in order to continue working on a cooperative basis for the upcoming year."

Chamber members will elect a new board of directors at the annual meeting in October. Municipal elections are in November.

As well as opening the office, with limited

Berry in the race

Bern Berry is running to win. The Reeve of Anson Hindon and Minden announced his candidacy for the reeve's chair this past week, saying he wouldn't be in the race if he wasn't going to give it his all.

Berry, who has served at the municipality's reeve since spring, when Ray Moore stepped aside for health reasons, said the biggest assets he carried into the November election are his experience and the continuity he can bring to both the operation of the municipal and county government. "There are going to be a lot of changes, especially at the county level," berry said last week. "While new faces are good, because they bring in new ideas, there will still be a need for individuals who have served before to provide the continuity," he said with his six years of experience on Minden council, where he has served as councillor, deputy reeve and reeve, he is the individual to provide that continuity.

"I have a strong feeling for this municipality," the candidate said, "I have the background, time and the age. After all, I'm only 55."

Berry is the second candidate to throw his hat in the ring for the reeve's chair. Councillor Vern Graham has also announced his intention to contest the seat.

Minden Reeve Bern Berry will run in the November elections.

Berry feels there are a number of major issues which would benefit from the experience he has gained over the years at the council table. Dealing with county issues first, he said restructuring of county has to be dealt with. He wondered if the province plans to continue with the effort initiated by the former Liberal government. He said representation by MPP (more on page 4)

Local court services threatened

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Victoria-Haliburton's MPP has promised to try to keep court services in Haliburton County.

Dennis Drainville made the pledge at last Wednesday's county council meeting, where he listened to councillors' concerns on a variety of issues.

The question of deteriorating court services in Haliburton County was raised by Minden Reeve Bern Berry who has been pursuing the issue with provincial officials since the spring.

Last week Berry received a letter from Ontario Attorney General Howard Hampton outlining the province's positions on court services in the county.

In the letter, Hampton says court days were transferred from Minden to Lindsay in order to accommodate non-residents of Haliburton County who were required to return to the area to answer to criminal charges.

In the past, court convened each Wednesday in the council chambers of the Minden municipal building to deal with local matters. Earlier this year, however, the ministry altered the schedule so court is now being held in Minden every second week. The remainder of criminal cases originating in Haliburton County have been transferred to the courts in Lindsay, which operate five days a week.

But Hampton went further and described the court facilities in Minden as "inadequate" and said they do not meet government requirements.

Drainville creates economic strategy committee

Local government and businesses will advise MPP on how to revive ailing economy

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Victoria-Haliburton MPP Dennis Drainville is hoping the creation of a new economic development committee will help spark a recovery in the riding's sagging economy.

Drainville unveiled the initiative at a meeting of the Lindsay District Real Estate Board in Dunsford last Thursday.

Membership for the committee will be drawn from the private sector and the governments of Victoria and Haliburton counties. This committee will coordinate development efforts and advise Drainville on appropriate strategies to boost the local economy.

"Without exaggeration, this is the worst recession Ontario has faced since World War II, and coming after one of the greatest economic booms in our history, it is doubly hard to take," said Drainville.

He said tourism levels have dropped 40 per cent in Haliburton County, which depends on this one industry for 85 per cent of its economic activity. Unemployment levels in Haliburton County are at 20 per cent, said Drainville, and 10 per cent of the workforce in Victoria County is without employment.

"These problems are creating incredible strains on public service agencies and government," said Drainville. "As more people are out of work, more social benefits need to be paid out and less revenue is generated."

The economic strategies committee proposed by Drainville is the first of its kind in the province. It will bring together representatives of the two county governments, chambers of commerce, agricultural groups, cultural organizations, unions, educators, tourism operators and other interested parties.

At a planning meeting scheduled for October 24 in Lindsay, members of these diverse groups will meet to discuss the problems facing the riding, consider appropriate action to bring about economic recovery more quickly, design a mandate for the strategies committee and discuss membership. Drainville suggested that each group should choose two representatives to serve as members.

Once the committee is established, it will advise Drainville on what provincial programs are needed to speed economic renewal.

Drainville used increased educational and training facilities and an investment fund for businesses as two areas the committee could address.

"I need to know that these is a group of people, who are serious about finding real solutions, who will help me with their ideas about what the province needs to do in order to significantly improve the economic base of our community," he said.

The committee will also serve as a focal point for the different sectors to develop and share ideas and combine resources. "The strategies committee would become a place where projects gel as business, local and provincial governments all come together," said Drainville.

"The key is to bring people together in a way that is conducive to the open flow of ideas followed up by concrete action," he said. "That is the real goal of the strategies committee and I look forward to working with the participants to bring about a true and lasting economic renewal to our community."

Lutterworth's industrial park dreams may be dashed by MOE requirements

Lutterworth Township may have to abandon its dream of developing an industrial park on Highway 121 north of Kinmount.

The council learned Thursday night that Ministry of Environment hydro-geological tests on the property would more than consume a grant being offered by the Ministry of Industry Trade and Technology designed to assist with the development of an industrial park. The township applied for the grant earlier this year. At that time the application was circulated to other provincial ministries for their comments. The environment ministry said that before any industrial development takes place on the property, tests should be carried out on the area to determine the impact of the development on the water table. The MOE request is now a condition of the municipality accepting the grant.

The latest roadblock has all but convinced some members of council they should abandon the idea of establishing an industrial park. Councillor Maurice Boyd suggested the council should list the property for sale and let a developer follow through on the industrial park. He noted that a great deal of work went into the preparation of the application and it would be a shame to let the project go, but there seems to be little alternative. Deputy Reeve Jim McMahon agreed suggesting the township should, "get rid of the whole thing."

The township has been attempting to entice industry to the location on Highway 121 just north of the county line for a number of years. The land has been zoned industrial for about ten years, however, there has been little interest shown in any of the more than 30 lots which could be created in the block of land. It was hoped with this latest development grant, investors might be attracted to the site.

While the council is discouraged with the restrictions placed on the grant by the MOE, it is still not ready to put the property on the market. A request for consideration for the lifting of the hydro-geological study has been made based on the position that the land has been zoned industrial for a number of years and in fact is part of the township's zoning bylaw, which was approved by various ministries a number of years ago.

If the MOE can be convinced to lift its restrictions because of this fact, the township will likely proceed with the development. If the test requirement stays, the block of land will be on the market shortly.

The council expects to hear from the province on its request sometime this week.

Minister says court facilities in Minden are inadequate

The minister cited two specific shortcomings of the Minden facilities: The room is on the second floor and does not provide barrier-free access to people with physical disabilities, and it also lacks any secure holding cells to deal with individuals in custody.

Although Hampton made assurances in the letter that it is not his intention to eliminate criminal court services to the residents of Haliburton County, Berry told Drainville he believes local court services will be transferred to Lindsay.

He challenged the MPP to secure government funding to build adequate, accessible court facilities, with secure holding cells. The new building could also house the registry office, Children's Aid Society, and ambulance service suggested Berry.

Drainville said he had not yet received a copy of Hampton's letter, but in conversations with the Attorney General there was no indication that all court services would be withdrawn from Haliburton County.

In bringing the matter up with Hampton, Drainville said he would support county council's concerns and that he has a "strong belief" in the points raised by Berry.

Although officials with the court services branch claim that re-scheduling court days from Minden to Lindsay only affects people coming from outside the county and individuals who require custody, in fact other cases are also being transferred out of Haliburton County.

Because the number of court days in Minden has been cut in half, local cases are being sent to Lindsay in order to avoid unreasonable delays.

In a landmark decision last October, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled that trial delays exceeding seven or eight months are unconstitutional. Since then thousands of criminal charges across the province have been stayed because cases took too long in coming to trial.

Because court days in Minden have been reduced to just two a month, court officials have been taking advantage of dates in Lindsay to schedule cases for which witnesses and accused are residents of Haliburton County, in order to avoid a backlog which could lead to delays.

In at least one instance in a courtroom in Lindsay, a crown attorney said court officials are trying to avoid scheduling cases in Minden.

Moving court services from Minden also has an adverse effect on police presence in Haliburton County.

If an officer is required for court duty, he can be easily be called out of court if the trial is in Minden if he is needed. If the trial is in Lindsay, it would take at least an hour for the officer to reach Haliburton County and another hour on the road to return to the court.

Also, if more than one officer is required to appear in court in Lindsay, they travel in one car to reduce the number of cruisers leaving the county. This means when one officers is finished in court, he must wait for the other officers before returning to the Minden detachment.

Tighter control of taxes needed, says Berry

Dennis Drainville at a recent County Council meeting did little to provide an indication of the senior government's intentions.

It is imperative to keep taxes down, he commented. The municipalities are caught between a transfer of responsibilities from the province to the local level, a reduction in provincial support and the increasing demands from residents for more services. Berry said he viewed the interest of the Citizen's Tax Coalition in a positive way, saying he hoped the group would work with the councils rather than just being a hindrance.

The candidate said there has been some progress at the county level in the way annual expenditures are presented for approval. He recalled an effort mounted several years ago by the then deputy reeve of Lutterworth Township, Carol Puffer and himself to be given more time to examine the budget before voting on it. The effort of the pair was soundly defeated by the majority of county councillors at the time, however, he pointed out that slowly the time allotted for examination of the budget has been growing over time to the point where this past year the members of council were given the budget a day before they were asked to vote on it. He admitted, however, that even with the additional time, this year's county budget was "a fiasco". He said if it hadn't been for the efforts of many of the local councils in holding their increases to as small as possible, taxpayers would have found even large increases in their tax bills. Berry said the main factor affecting the county budget isn't likely to change in the coming year. He said the social assistance portion of the budget will increase as a result of continued economic problems and new provisions being introduced by the province.

He said the county will have to deal with the official plan. He wondered if the planning process was premature, especially in relation to the cost and economic conditions in the county.

Berry also said the relationship between the county and the Chamber of Commerce must be resolved. He noted the Chamber was recently given a grant to assist it to continue to operate the tourist information booth for another few months, and the new council will have to decide how to handle that situation. "I don't know what the answer is to this one," he commented, "it is something that will have to be worked out."

Berry also noted that during his most recent term as county councillor he has been chosen to head the important Social Services and Hyland Crest committees. "The fact that my fellow councillors had enough trust to put me, a deputy reeve (at the time) in the chair of these committees I think speaks highly of their assessment of my abilities."

Successes and challenges

Turning to municipal matters, he said that despite the "turmoil" of the past three years a great deal has been accomplished in Anson, Hindon and Minden. He said a million dollars has been spent on upgrading Bobcaygeon Road, new equipment was purchased for the roads department and development has been encouraged in the residential and commercial sectors. Pointing out that progress in these areas is a result of all members of council working together with the staff of the municipality and the citizens, he noted among the accomplishments over the past term were: the purchase of the new fire truck; the jaws of life equipment for the fire department; repair to the community centre and the expansion currently underway; the introduction of community policing and the new building; the expansion of ambulance service from nine hours a day to 17; the growth at the County Town Museum; the new baseball diamonds; new house for seniors and geared to income units; and the reversal of the decision to move the county building to the Allsaw flats.

Still ahead for the municipality, as far as Berry is concerned is the clarification of which zoning bylaw this municipality is operating under, followed by an updating of the official plan, and determining whether the community in fact needs a new well, where it should be located and whether the water system can be expanded to spur growth.

Berry says he plans to campaign hard for the reeve's chair, but that he will fight "a clean fight."

Interestingly, he may be giving those who oppose him an unintentional advantage. An unavoidable family commitment will be taking him out of the community for two weeks in mid October, during the main campaign period. He realizes this could hurt his chances.

"Hopefully people will realize I worked hard over the past six years," Berry said.

County grant will keep Chamber office open staff, the chamber also hopes to re-instate the 1-800 telephone line as soon as possible.

Shortreed said the management committee wrestled with the issue of the additional money and didn't want to put the next county council in a difficult position with financial commitments. He said there are no conditions attached to the grant and the chamber can spend the money as the executive sees fit.

Although the money is coming out of the existing county budget, Shortreed could not specify from which programs it would be drawn, saying only that it would come from "here and there."

He said the committee had to act in a hurry in order to prevent the closure of the office at the end of the month. "Once the doors closed and the phone stopped ringing, we would have been in a difficult position," said Shortreed.

Stanhope Deputy-Reeve Ann Barker, who is a member of the chamber and county's representative to the organization, thanked the council for its "extreme effort in letting the chamber continue." She said the chamber is one of the county's biggest assets.

Shortreed's announcement followed a plea on behalf of the chamber from Victoria-Haliburton MPP Dennis Drainville, who had been invited to the county council meeting to discuss a variety of topics with councillors.

"I do not come to county council blaming the council for what has happened to the chamber of commerce," Drainville said during his opening remarks. "But I wish to make a plea that you reconsider the needs of the chamber of commerce."

Drainville became involved in the chamber's financial crisis last month when he met with chamber of county officials in an effort to help with a solution.

At that time the county offered to give the chamber an additional $9,000 if the province would match the amount. Drainville said he tried to secure funding from several provincial ministries but came up empty.

"The chamber of commerce badly needs the kind of support which is only available from the county," he said. "I went to several ministries and was told we don't fund chambers of commerce."

Without the chamber of commerce, Drainville said Haliburton County would be a county "without a very strong advocate."

The only council member who voted against the resolution to provide the additional money to the chamber was Lutterworth deputy-reeve Jim McMahon. Expressing concern about county spending, McMahon said later that the county could not afford any more money for the chamber when the budget was drafted in the spring and councillors should have stuck to that position.

Barker running for reeve

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Stanhope's deputy-reeve is hoping to embrace new challenges this November as she tries to make the move to the reeve's chair during the municipal elections.

"It's time I moved," says Barker, who has been on Stanhope council for eight years, three of those as deputy-reeve. "I feel that you if stay in one position too long you take things for granted."

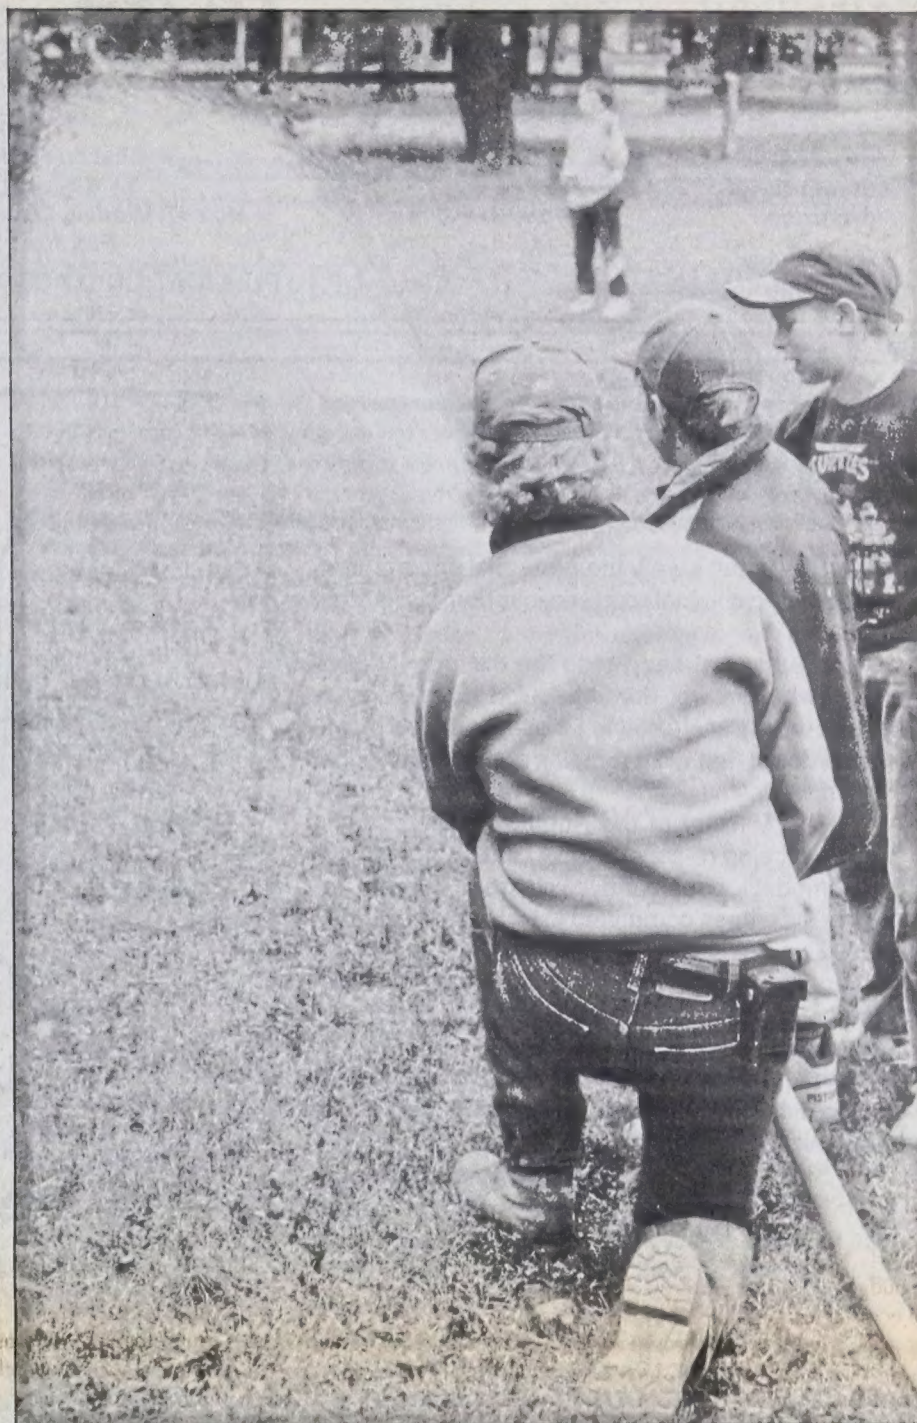

Barker doesn't have a specific platform going into the campaign, but says there are already plenty of issues which candidates will have to address, such as market value assessment, taxes, and county planning.

"The issues are there," she says. "These things have to be addressed. The next three years are going to be difficult years."

One thing voters should remember during the election is that, despite any promises, no councillor can make important changes alone and council decisions are a group effort, says Barker.

"After being on council this long, I know (more on page 8)

Slowly but surely the provincial government is withdrawing criminal court services from Haliburton County.

We have already seen the thin edge of the wedge when half of the scheduled court days in Minden were transferred to Lindsay, and there can be little doubt that what remains of the local justice system will follow.

The Ministry of the Attorney General says cases are being re-scheduled in Lindsay in order to accommodate people travelling from Toronto to answer for crimes committed in Haliburton County.

This seems to suggest that local residents who are the victims and witnesses in these cases are less important to the justice system than the people accused of the crimes.

If a person can travel to Haliburton County to commit a crime, surely he can make the return trip to answer for his deeds.

Since the transfer of trial dates from Minden to Lindsay began, and the number of local court days reduced to just two a month, more and more cases have been sent south in order to avoid a backlog.

How much longer can it be before the ministry decides it is no longer worth the effort to bring judges and court officials to Minden to hear the few remaining cases, and all local proceedings are moved to Lindsay?

In order to serve the people a justice system must be visible and accessible. For someone who lives in Minden or Haliburton, a justice system in Lindsay is neither visible nor accessible.

And if the present facilities in the municipal office are inadequate, then the ministry should give local politicians the opportunity to find a more suitable location, perhaps in the proposed new county building.

Minden Reeve Bern Berry is to be commended for the strong stand he's taken on the issue, and residents of the county should be voicing their concerns to local MPP Dennis Drainville and Attorney General Howard Hampton.

The enlightening experience of lightbulb jokes

Consider the humble lightbulb.

Just a few cents worth of cheap glass, thin brass and wispy filament slapped together in the shape of an inverted teardrop but it changed the future of mankind just as surely and thoroughly as did the discovery of fire, gunpowder or the wheel.

When Thomas Alva Edison invented the lightbulb, he gave us the power to turn night into day. Oh sure, — before Edison we had torches and gas lights and kerosene lamps and they were okay, but they couldn't um, hold a candle to the light bulb.

wheeler bearing down on us on the Trans Canada. In a lightbulbless world, how would we ever know what was in the darkest corners of the refrigerator? How could we tell when Gretzky scored, if the goal light didn't go on?

I'm not sure humankind could summon up the spunk to survive in a world without lightbulbs. Never mind the inconvenience. Forget the perpetual darkness. How could we ever hope to get along without Lightbulb Jokes?

You know Lightbulb Jokes? I heard my first one back in the early '70s:

How many Tories does it take to screw in a lightbulb?
Five. One to hold the bulb and four to turn the ladder.

It wasn't long before the Lightbulb Jokes were coming thick and fast — and slamming just about every social group you could think of:

How many NDPers does it take to change a bulb?

Twelve. One to screw it in; eleven to write the environmental impact statement.

How many Californians does it take to change a bulb?

Ten. One to screw it in, nine to share the experience.

How many Teamsters does it take to change a bulb?

How many psychiatrists does it take to change a lightbulb?

Just one — but the bulb has to WANT to change.

CHACE still dedicated to supporting all caregivers

Editor:

In response to a recent letter to the Editor from Haliburton C.H.A.C.E. Resource Centre member, Lorri Roberts, I would first of all like to state my respect for Lorri's convictions and her dedication to the values in which she believes. Secondly, I would like to present some points of clarification which I hope will offer the broader perspective on the issue of services to informal caregivers.

Two years ago, when our funding ministry, the Ministry of Community and Social Services (MCSS) first highlighted our mandate to support the informal caregiver, we too were concerned about what this direction would mean for the client base we were predominantly serving; namely, stay-at-home parents. We wanted to ensure that the vital service we were currently offering to the community would not be jeopardized. Consequently, we engaged in intense negotiations with our MCSS Program Supervisor in an effort to advocate for our current membership. We knew we were serving informal caregivers and had been all along (we just didn't separate them out statistically) but we felt it our role to advocate for the parents and children of this county. This negotiation process resulted in an effort that both the Ministry and C.H.A.C.E. were comfortable with. Specifically, that, "The primary target group includes caregivers and parents seeking child care in the County of Haliburton (as well as the children in their care). It is recognized that parents providing care for their own children (and these children) would continue to access the services of the centre."

Now, two years later, I am absolutely confident in saying that our service to our families has not suffered in any respect due to this new arrangement. Never have I felt that we have compromised our support to stay-at-home parents as a result of offering services to informal caregivers. In fact, our parents have been able to participate in an even greater number of events now that we are offering additional programming that is designed to assist the informal caregiver. These include programs that address child proofing the home, running a small business and what to consider in regards to providing child care in the home. These are skills that we all use as parents; they are not specific only to caregivers. Surprisingly, the recent Child Care Strategic study conducted last summer in the County revealed that we are one of the most well accessed (by caregivers) resource centres! Over a recent six month period, our Haliburton and Minden Resource Centres totalled over 500 visits by independent caregivers. And remember... we are still drawing on virtually the same client base as before... we have always served the informal caregiver, we just never documented their attendance.

While it can be argued that child care dollars are taxpayers dollars, they are dollars that have been allocated to child care and as an agency, we recognize our obligations to our funding Ministry. We are funded based on a commitment to carry out specific obligations as outlined in our Legal Agreement... a Legal Agreement which defines our target group as informal caregivers.

This is a target group that was defined as one that needed support by communities across Canada. In 52 independent child care studies conducted over the past four years, it was revealed that informal care was the preferred choice of working parents. According to the statistics in the recent, much respected, Children First document, the majority of women with young children now work outside the home. Their income is essential to the financial well-being of their families, and their contribution to the workforce is vital to the economic prosperity of our province. This document further states that it is the wide acceptance of the myth of the traditional family (working father, stay-at-home mother) that has inhibited the development of a broader network of supports to assist families.

We do not profess to like every aspect of our broader mandate, but we do need to accept those things that we cannot change and work to change those that we can in positive, productive ways. It is quite ironic that an agency that promotes licensed care would also offer support to unlicensed care. As much as we support our own services however, we know there are a lot of terrific independent caregivers who share our commitment to the well-being of county children. If this is our reality, who better to offer this support than C.H.A.C.E.?

County-wide candidate meeting being held in Minden on Oct. 24

The first All-Townships Candidates meeting will be held Saturday, October 26, 7 p.m. at Archie Stouffer Public School, Minden. Please notice the change to Minden because of some nuts-n-bolts organizational difficulties getting a large room, lots of chairs, etc. on the right night.

This meeting will deal only with County level candidates. School Board Trustee, Reeve and Deputy Reeve candidates from all municipalities in our County will be invited to attend and participate in a very differently styled program. All candidates for all elected positions on all councils will get the Coalition questionnaire and be part of a Coalition Report Card published the week before the election.

The reason only County level candidates will be invited to the October 26 meeting is twofold. First, it's a matter of numbers and keeping the program to a manageable event. Secondly, our major concerns for local tax spending focus this year at the County Council and Board of Education levels. Almost without exception, the reason for unacceptable tax hikes in 1991 has to do with a County increase of 35% and an Education tax increase of 10%.

The meeting will be different because candidates will not have the opportunity for random conversation. Very specific issues will be explored in order to place all participating candidates "on the record". An agenda will be forwarded ahead of time to

by Gary Kenney and John Beachli

each candidate, and published in the newspapers. There is no intimidation intended, but as the old Dragnet detective series used to insist on... "the facts mam, just the facts, please."

The October 26 meeting will focus on the Taxpayer's Coalition agenda. We are not a substitute conscience for the voter. Not every subject area can be addressed that night and the program cannot take the place of each voter's responsibility to attend other candidates' meetings, buttonhole candidates on the street, and do their own homework according to their own priorities.

As we take advantage of a democratic system that relies on voter rights established generations ago, millions of others lay their lives on the line today to regain the same advantage. Use it or lose it, it's our choice.

COMING EVENTS: School Board Meeting Tuesday, September 26, Dorset School. Taxpayers' Coalition executive meeting Monday, September 30, 7 p.m. Northern Eagle Resort. (Public welcome.)

Help is still needed

Editor:

They tell us old people to stay in our homes as long as we can and they would help us.

Who pays this dame to come in and ask if you can bath yourself and do your hair and tell you that you won't need a home maker after the end of September?

I am past my 88th year and I can not do the house work. My home maker only comes every two weeks for three hours. I am going to stay in my home and I need some help.

Why change your lightbulbs when a machine will do it for you?

(from page 6)

How many feminists does it take to change a lightbulb?

That's not funny!

And - how many Canadians does it take to change a bulb?

Just one. Of course!

The Lightbulb Joke. Something I'm certain even the protean brain of Thomas Alva Edison never envisaged. They've been bouncing around for at least twenty years that I know of - though I haven't heard any new ones for quite some time. Which I guess means that either they've run their comedy circuit or I'm out of the lightbulb loop. How about you - you heard any good new Lightbulb Jokes? Send 'em on in. I'd be glad to hear them. In return, let me leave you with a lightbulb actuality. Not a joke.

Question: How many Pennsylvania State employees does it take to change a lightbulb? Answer: Two - plus a ten thousand dollar machine. According to a recent editorial in the Philadelphia Inquirer, a ceiling light fixture in a new government building in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania was judged to be too far from the walls to be reached safely by ladder. Therefore and henceforth, when the bulb blows, two, count 'em, two state employees will wheel the ten thousand dollar mechanical device into position below the defunct bulb. One employee will step into the hydraulic basket which will then be raised to the light fixture. He or she will remove the dead lightbulb, insert a fresh one and...grasp it firmly while the other employee rotates the device!

Nah.
I'm just joking.
I think.

Barker wants to 'earn' reeve's seat and not be unchallenged in election that it takes more than one person to cut taxes," she said.

On the issue of market value assessment, Barker thinks everyone should pay their fair share but doesn't agree that lakefront property owners should be penalized for "having a better view."

But she believes market value assessment is going to be legislated by the Ontario government and, if that happens, she thinks tax increases should be phased in over a two or three year period to give people a chance to adjust to the changes.

On the broader issue of property taxes and municipal spending, Barker says Stanhope council has tried to keep tax increases down. "We've tried to be very careful," she says. "Where we have raised taxes, we have justified what we have done."

Describing municipal councillors as the "guardians of the purse strings," Barker says any large expenditures a council makes must be a good investment. As an example of such an investment, Barker uses Stanhope's new municipal building which was partially funded by the sale of municipal property.

As a county councillor, one of the most difficult issues Barker had to face was the decision to slash the contribution to the Chamber of Commerce by more than 50 per cent.

Barker, who is a member of the chamber and county representative to the organization, says she fought for more money but voted in favour of the final amount because she was afraid that council would reduce the contribution even further.

Serving on county council is an especially difficult job because so much of the work is done by committees and there are more councillors around the table trying to reach a decision, says Barker. She says the positions involve a lot of lobbying fellow councillors to find support on issues.

Around the council table Barker says she has to wear two hats because she is representing Stanhope Township at the county level but must also work for the good of the entire county.

"I want our own community to benefit, but not at the expense of losing something for the rest of the county," she said.

In the 1988 municipal elections Barker was unchallenged for the position of deputy-reeve, but she hopes to face some competition in her bid for the reeveship.

"Any position on council should be earned," she said. "Last time, when I got in uncontested, I felt cheated." Not only are acclamations a disservice to voters, Barker feels they deny candidates the opportunity to address issues and voice their opinions.

She expects this election to be more issue-oriented than past years and expects voters will expect a lot of answers from candidates. "I will do my best to be as candid as possible," she says. She is looking forward to the Oct. 19 all-candidates meeting in Stanhope and encourages voters to come out.

Corrections

In last week's paper a caption incorrectly identified a member of the local cadet corps climbing over an obstacle at Camp Brannigan as Brock Ladurantaye. The cadet shown was actually Ryan Ladurantaye.

On Sept. 9, we ran a story about the new Crime Stoppers program which has been started in Haliburton County. In the story, it was incorrectly stated that police can obtain search warrants on the basis of anonymous tips. In fact, a police investigation must result in evidence which supports such tips before a search warrant can be issued.

The Times regrets any inconvenience or confusion resulting from either of these errors.

What to look for when buying a new home.

For the past 10 years I've studied building techniques to discover how to build a better home. A home that would meet the needs of today's energy and comfort conscious home buyers. What I learned was that one home — the R-2000 home — is your best choice. Why? Well, there are a lot of reasons. Here are just a few.

Superior Construction

- greater attention to detail prevents excess air leakage.
- continuous operating ventilation system offers superior indoor air quality all year round.

More Comfort

- reduces cold spots and drafts, with even temperature from attic to basement.

Lower Heating Costs

- the R-2000 home saves you money because it is more energy efficient than a conventionally built home.

Individually Inspected

- every R-2000 home is inspected and awarded a certificate if it meets R-2000 standards.

Lutterworth cottager seeks office

Responding to the enthusiastic support of friends and acquaintances on Gull Lake, Cam Ecclestone has announced his candidacy for reeve of Lutterworth Township. The 55 year old Toronto resident filed his registration papers with the municipal clerk several weeks ago.

In an interview following the Lutterworth Township council meeting last Thursday, he said his association with the area dates back almost to the day he was born. "Our family has cottaged on Gull Lake since 1939 and our family roots in the area stretch back to 1922," he said. Over the past summer he has been talking to fellow cottagers on the lake as well as permanent residents and has received encouragement from everyone who spoke to him. "I've always had an interest in politics and feel this is an appropriate time to become involved," he declared.

Ecclestone said his background in sales management provided him with experience that would be valuable at both the municipal and county levels. He noted he is familiar with multi-million dollar budgets, has good 'people skills' and is familiar with the responsibilities of running meetings. "I think I can do the job".

During his meetings with property owners in the township he has identified a number of issues which he feels are of concern to voters in the upcoming election. "We need to take a close look at the impacts of market value assessment before it is implemented," he said. "Everyone

I've talked to is afraid taxes are going to go up 200 to 300%."

He said that over the past four years, taxes have increased 74% and he predicted a 20 to 30% increase in the next few years. "People are looking for a hard line on spending control," he said.

Ecclestone said he felt the recently formed citizens' tax coalition is, "on the right track" in some of its concerns. He said he agrees with the positions on recorded votes for all expenditures and closer examination of spending is a must if taxes are to be brought under control.

The candidate also sees a need for greater communication between the council and the citizens of the township. "People just don't know what is going on. They should be better informed than they are," he said.

He also said there is an inequity in the situation where seasonal residents of the county provide 77% of the tax base, much of which is spent on education, but they are effectively barred from taking advantage of their investment since their children do not attend the local schools. He said he was aware the tying of school taxes to property assessment was a provincial responsibility, but that something must be done to change the situation where seasonal residents support two school systems.

Environmental issues are high on his list of concerns too. Lake water quality, gypsy moth infestation and landfill problems are some of the areas where he says the new council must be prepared to take action.

"I feel the seasonal residents are going to make their voices heard," he said.

Admitting he was aware the position of reeve involved a lot of work and many meetings, he said he was committed to attending every meeting at the township and county level. "I will be here as much as possible," the candidate declared. He said he planned to monitor the meetings between now and the election.

"I want this election to be a race. I don't want to get in by acclamation," he stated.

During the weeks leading

up to the campaign he will be using his weekends to meet with as many property owners and associations in the township as possible to get his message out to the voters.

At the moment, no other candidate has come forward in Lutterworth Township for the position of reeve. The present Reeve, Carol Puffer, has announced she will not be seeking re-election in November.

Fearrey stands by declaration, will not run

While candidates are emerging in just about every township in the county, at least one familiar face on the municipal political scene has announced his intention not to seek office. Murray Fearrey, former reeve and warden, now serving as Councillor in Dysart, has reaffirmed an earlier declaration and stated he will not be a candidate this November.

Fearrey said he is just following through on an announcement he made last year when he resigned as the municipality's reeve. At the time he said he was through with municipal politics. Shortly after his resignation, another member of the Dysart council, Glen Hodgson announced his intention not to complete his term in office due to health reasons. The two resignations created a concern among the remaining Dysart councillors that introducing two inexperienced individuals to their deliberations in mid-term, would be difficult. After the hierarchy of the council was arranged, Deputy Reeve Bill Davis moved into the Reeve's chair, Councillor Lloyd Leadbeater became Deputy Reeve, and former councillor Dorothy Baker filled the one vacancy on council, Fearrey agreed to fill the other. At the time he said he was willing to serve only to the end of the term.

While he may be leaving

the election race behind him, Fearrey is still keenly interested in the give and take of municipal politics. Commenting on the increased interest in municipal spending, Fearrey predicted "There will be major changes in the way things are done." He said the spending habits of the councils, particularly at the county level, have to change. "County councillors have to bring more business sense to the table when they strike a budget," he said. Increases in municipal spending should not exceed the ability of the local economy to support it. He said councillors are going to have to resist the temptation to take advantage of every provincial program that comes along, especially when it means an increase in local taxes. "The county's growth rate is off," he said. "where are the new dollars going to

Plea receives sympathetic hearing

There was little members of Lutterworth Council could do but shrug and agree with just about every comment two ratepayers of that municipality included in a letter discussed at the Thursday night meeting. The letter concerned the increase in taxes which has occurred since the people purchased their property on Davis Lake in 1952.

"We're all in the same boat," Deputy Reeve Jim McMahon said. "20 years ago my taxes were $17 too."

"Except for the suggestion that they withhold their taxes, its all true. What more can we say," Councillor Bill Valentine added, with other members of the council agreeing.

The letter, from Leroy and Aila Brown, probably represents the feelings of many ratepayers. It read as follows:

"Since we bought our Davis lake property in 1952, our taxes have gone from $17.00 per year to over $1000

(which included the three lots which we have designated for our children.)

"We didn't receive any services in 1952 and today we still receive nothing but a bit of roadwork in the summer months.

"As seniors on a fixed income and who have already educated our children, we resent having to pay high school taxes on BOTH our main residence and on our cottage property. You know that, even if we wanted to send children to school from our cottage, we would not be allowed to do so. We checked this out during the school strike several years ago.

If our taxes keep increasing each year, as they have since 1952, we will be forced to withhold a part of our taxes each year.

"We ask that you take this matter under serious consideration since we are not the only cottagers who feel this way. We don't even have garbage pick-up where we live.

"(As you can see from) the enclosed pamphlet, Tax-payers are starting to fight back."

Toll free number for kids problems

The Canadian Children's Foundation's Helpline for children and youth began operation in June of 1989. A toll-free line provides professional guidance to troubled children across the country in a friendly, anonymous manner, by way of a free telephone call. The service is available 24 hours a day 7 days a week.

Skilled professionals provide information, referrals and counselling to help young people tackle such problems as family breakup, relationships, loneliness and depression, physical abuse, sexuality, health concerns and substance abuse.

Children who need help may call free of charge using the toll-free number 1-800-668-6868.

For further information about the Kids Help Line contact your nearest Information Centre.

In Haliburton, the centre is located in the Drag River Municipal Building, Maple Ave., open Monday to Friday 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., call 457-2733. The Minden office is open Monday and Tuesday 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. call 286-4100. If you live outside the toll-free area, please call collect.

Trent canal is open

The Trent-Severn Waterway was open for business again last Wednesday after federal civil servants agreed to go back to work.

Workers were back on the job last week after the union and the Treasury Board agreed to carry out negotiations on a new contract.

In a statement issued last Wednesday, Waterway superintendent John Lewis said boaters may still experience difficulty in the Trenton area due to equipment problems.

Lewis also cautioned that navigation through the system could still be affected if negotiations between the union and the government break down and the strike resumes.

"Boaters who desire to return their boats to marinas for winter storage or to their winter base are strongly advised to move their vessels at this time," said Lewis.

Employees who operate the dams on Haliburton County's reservoir lakes have not been affected by the strike action.

come from to support these programs?"

Looking at the process of local government, Fearrey commented, "The day of tabling a budget and adopting it without public input is in the past. Elected officials are going to have to be more responsive to the wishes of the taxpayers. They're just going to have to learn to say 'No' more often." Fearrey admitted that during his time as a member of the county council the 'table and endorse' procedure was the norm for the county budget. He said that is all changing. The time when all the decisions were made in closed committee meetings and simply endorsed by the council as a whole are passed, he said. The councils will have to be more responsive to the wishes of the public.

While he won't rule out being politically active at some future time, Fearrey said for the moment at least his involvement in politics has come to an end. "You never know what the future might bring," he commented, "but for the moment, I'm done."

Fearrey said he has no regrets looking back over his many years of service. "I believe I did the best job possible and served the people to the best of my ability. I was happy to have been of service to the community," he concluded

Redmen victorious in season openers

True to coach Gary Brohman's prediction, both the senior and junior football teams have won their season openers. The Redmen took on the Fenelon Falls Falcons Friday in Haliburton and returned to the dressing room with victories. The seniors won a close 12-6 game in a rare over-time while the juniors picked up an easy 34-14 win.

The senior games was scoreless until the third quarter when the Redmen fumbled a punt on their 20 yard line. The Falcons were able to charge over the line for a six point lead. The conversion was blocked.

It wasn't until the last quarter that the Redmen marched to the Fenelon goal line and Mark Klages crashed over to even the score. The conversion was unsuccessful. The Falcons came close as the clock ticked down. They came within striking distance and attempted a field goal which would have clinched the win. The kick was on the money, however Jay Hughes grabbed the ball and wormed his way out of the end zone to the Redmen 30 yard line leaving both teams tied as regulation time ran out.

The teams moved into a 15 minute over-time period, divided into two halves. Both squads held the line as the ball moved up and down the field. However, with the minute flag up, and after a determined march, Hughes passed the ball to Bart Whiting in the end zone to give the seniors the edge they needed. The conversion was missed, but with only second

Strong season predicted for junior soccer team

The junior Redmen soccer team is anticipating a strong season despite losing their first game to LCVI 1-0 in a close game.

The Redmen played a strong, offensive game and carried the play into Lindsay's end of the field, but were unable to score as their shots went wide, hit the cross bar and seemed to go everywhere but into the net.

Darren Parsons, Jonathan Bishop and Richard Miles all played exceptionally well for Haliburton.

Last week the juniors faced Fenelon Falls in Haliburton and put in another competitive performance.

The Redmen opened the scoring late in the first half when Parsons passed the ball across the Fenelon goal to Lutz Haedicke who beat the Falcon goalie.

Haliburton held on to the lead through most of the second half but gave up the tying goal late in the game. Unable to capitalize on subsequent scoring chances, the Redmen were forced to settle for a 1-1 tie.

Fenelon is considered the team to beat in the junior soccer division this year and the close game means Haliburton could be a contender for top spot.

The Redmen will play I.E. Weldon, the only team they have yet to face, in Haliburton on Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. So far, Fenelon leads the league with one win and one tie, LCVI and Weldon share second place with one win and one loss each and Haliburton is in fourth with one loss and one tie.

Slow start for senior kickers

Haliburton's high school senior soccer team is off to a shaky start this season after losing their first two games.

The first defeat came in Lindsay at the hands of LCVI on September 13 by a score of 9-1.

The seniors played well during the first half of the game but seemed to fold in the second half, says coach Walter Tose.

Nico Haedicke scored the lone goal for the Redmen and Tose gives credit to goalie Mike Mackenzie who faced a barrage of shots from the LCVI offense. Also turning in strong performances for Haliburton were Mike Morrison and Eric Casper.

Last Wednesday the seniors hosted Fenelon Falls and faired only slightly better as they came out on the losing end of a 7-2 final score.

Fenelon Falls opened the scoring with three quick goals in the first half surprising the Redmen players. Tose said the team never recovered after falling behind early.

Morrison, who had another strong game, put Haliburton on the score board in the first half when he scored on a penalty kick awarded to the Redmen when a Fenelon player used his hands.

The second Haliburton goal came in the second half when the team worked the ball into Fenelon's end of the field. An initial shot by Bruce Milne was blocked, but the Fenelon goalie failed to control the ball and Milne played the rebound to scored.

Tose says the team's performance is the result of having many young players, many of whom have never played competitive soccer before.

"It's a building year," said Tose. "We only have two Grade 12 students on the team and the rest are in Grade 11. We lost most of our experienced players after last year."

Haliburton's senior soccer team have won two championships in the last five years and made it to the finals in the other three years. Tose said a downturn of the team's performance was expected.

"I don't think the players are getting too discouraged," he said. "They are gaining experience and improving every game."

This Wednesday the Redmen are hosting I.E. Weldon following the junior game. After two weeks of play, Fenelon and LCVI are tied for first place with one win and one tie apiece, Weldon has the third best record with two ties followed by Haliburton with two losses.

Eric Casper battles with a Fenelon falls Falcon for control of the ball during the senior soccer game last Wednesday afternoon.

Exciting golf helps Heart Foundation

This year's annual Heart and Stroke Charity Weekend at Beaverbrook Golf Course was held on September 15.

Thirteen golfers raised $300 dollars for the local chapter of the Heart and Stroke Foundation.

Not only did the event raise money for a good cause, it also provided some golf drama as course men's leaders Hugh Nichol and Ken Rosenburg ended the 18-holes with scores of 73.

In a sudden death play-off hole, Nichol beat Rosenburg claiming first place. Lee Bull and Bob Renock followed with 75 strokes each and Bob Nichol came fifth with a 77.

On the ladies' side, Caroline Baxter took top honours by shooting a 78.

Low net scores on the day were Ron Whitby and Fred Straton with 72; Dale Robinson with 73; Kevin Warburton with 78 and Ted Dufty with 82.

Brohman said the win was a good start on the season. He noted that Mark Klages scrambled for 155 yards on 25 carries while Jay Hughes ran for 120 yards in 13 carries.

The seniors have a strong ground game. They only connected on 5 of 18 pass attempts.

Junior contest

Fullback Peter Brohman led the attack for the juniors scoring three of their TDs. Andy Bacon and Jamie Simmons added the other two majors.

The first offensive play of the contest saw Bacon complete a sparkling 50 yard run to open the scoring for the Redmen. The two point conversion was missed.

Bacon once again showed his speed and agility, threading his way through the opposition in an 80 yard run in the second quarter of the contest. However a penalty negated his effort. Bacon also sustained a hard hit and was sidelined for the second half of the game.

Brohman's first two touchdowns came in the second quarter. His first was a short four yard run. The two point conversion, a pass from Kevin Morissette to Mark Morissette, connected. Brohman then ran 47 yards for his second TD of the game.

Into the third quarter, Jamie Simmons ran 50 yards for marker number four. Brohman completed his three TD effort with a 20 yard run followed by a two point conversion.

The Falcons scored two touchdowns before the game ended.

Headed for the end zone, Bart Whiting evades a Fenelon tackler on his way to scoring the tie-breaking, game winning touchdown.

Coach Brohman had praise for his junior squad, noting they made a more than respectable offensive showing on their first time out. Bacon, who played only half the game, managed 200 yards in ten carries. Simmons turned in 146 yards, while Brohman clocked 130 yards. The coach was also pleased with the play of Andy Billings, Chad Connelly and David Hughes.

Local football fans get an opportunity to see more action this week as the Redmen host I.E. Weldon this Friday.

The Juniors will be on the gridiron first with a game at 1:30. The senior game is expected to start around 3:00 p.m. The teams then have three weeks of away games and return to home turf for the final contest of the regular season.

Lutterworth Council briefs

Items from the September 19 meeting of the Lutterworth municipal council.

Lutterworth Township residents may be asked to show cards to gain access to township garbage dumps in the coming year. The suggestion was made as one way of heading off the rapid depletion of space at the township's facilities.

According to a report presented to the council, the Little Gull Lake site may have as little as a year and a half left before it must be closed. Now that the township's two dumps have attendants in place, it would be easy to implement a card access system which would limit use of the dumps to ratepayers of the township.

The report on the Little Gull site noted that a second lift, or level, of garbage depositing has started, but that the life of the facility is quickly approaching an end, which means a new location must be found.

Reeve Carol Puffer suggested the card access system should be instituted to ensure township residents get maximum use of the facility. She also expressed concern that the county-wide waste management plan, currently underway, may take several years to complete, which means the identification of new dump sites could be far off.

The council took no action on the suggestion, noting that if the cards were introduced, they would be sent out with the tax bills in late winter.

Request to be heard

Two Lutterworth Township residents have asked the council to provide times during regular meetings for citizens to ask questions of the councillors and municipal staff. Ambrose and Theresa Carroll attended the last meeting and spoke briefly at the end of the evening. They asked why a ratepayer of the township should have to submit a written request to be included on the meeting's agenda.

Reeve Puffer answered their request by pointing out the meetings could stretch into all hours if everyone who attended, unannounced, was given an opportunity to address an issue at hand. She said the council had instituted the prior notification policy to ensure the council has a manageable package of matters to deal with at each meeting. She also pointed out that by providing the council with prior notification an issue will be discussed, allow staff and councillors to "do some homework" on the issue and ensure informed discussion can take place.

The Carrolls also requested that township expenditures be made available to the ratepayers so they could examine how their tax dollars are being spent. The reeve explained that while the accounts approved for payment that night were not immediately available, the listings of those payments, and any from previous meetings would be open to anyone requesting them at the municipal office.

Road request

The council was presented again with a request from property owners on East Moore Lake for the township to take over the maintenance of their road. This has been an ongoing issue with the property owners in this area and the municipal council.

Charles Gerditschke represented the interests of the property owners in the area. He said when the land was first subdivided, there was a notation on the deeds saying the township would assume and maintain the access route. He said the road is unsafe.

Reeve Puffer said the municipality has never assumed the road into its system because there was never an agreement to do so. She said the notation in the deeds did not represent an agreement which had been struck between the developer and the township. She noted the current access route does not meet the standards required by the Ministry of Transportation for subsidy and implied it would take a major investment to bring it up to those standards.

Road request heard again

Gerditschke pointed out the property owners served by the route all pay into the Lutterworth tax coffers and are not receiving any road services.

The council agreed to look into the possibility of obtaining a piece of property which might provide easier access to the cottage road. The council agreed to approach the owner of the property, Ingram Wessell, to determine if he was interested in selling the property in question.

Reeve Puffer said it was a matter for the courts to decide as to whether the road was in fact the responsibility of the township. For the moment, however, no action will be taken on this request.

Members of the Minden Seniors Curling Club gathered for a picture after competing in a golf tournament earlier this month.

Sweeping the greens

by Aileen Blears

"This is the forest primeval. The murmuring pines and the hemlocks."

When Longfellow penned "Evangeline", he was writing about Acadia, but his words aptly describe the scene at Blairhampton Golf Course on September 11 when, amid the haunting beauty of the Haliburton Highlands, Minden senior curlers enjoyed another remarkable round of golf.

The tournament produced very few birdies or eagles, but some worms had close calls, a rabbit was seen "hopping it" and a blue jay was scared featherless!

Later, more than one hundred met at a Deer Lodge for a buffet dinner which was preceded by an hour of "friendshipping".

The awarding of prizes was, as always, a time for good-natured speculation as to the validity of the scores. The Billie and Dave Shuyler trophy for low gross was presented to John Thomas and his foursome, John Wachsmuth, Kay Cannon and Jack Robson. Some other prizewinners were Marion and John Thomas who each won for the longest drive (talk about togetherness). Merle Codlin was again a winner; she won for lady nearest to hole. Roly Scott was the winner for the men in the same category.

Dancing ended the evening and it was a lively crowd that waltzed and fox-trotted its way around the floor.

An impromptu solo dance by a very sexy lady was applauded by everyone. Madonna, eat your heart out!

Grooming volunteers needed

Grooming equipment...it is as vital to smooth trails as the volunteers who operate the equipment on those cold winter nights.

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association has a volunteer team which works year round on our equipment needs, maintenance and improvements.

We felt it important to highlight the efforts of Bill Wilson, Ken Evans and Bob Clifford who have recently completed some impressive working improvements to our BR 60 tractors and detachable grooming units.

HCSA

Haliburton County Snowmobile Association

This same team was invited to the Industrial manufacturing plant of Bombardier in Valcourt, Quebec on August 14 and was given a first class tour of this impressive facility.

Many of the same working improvements which the HCSA has worked so hard to develop are now becoming standard on the 1992 BR 60 Plus Groomers which Bombardier manufactures.

The HCSA feels that this important communication and working co-operation between the Bombardier factory and our grooming equipment users will lead to improved trails, minimal repairs and extended equipment life.

If you are interested in becoming part of the volunteer grooming and trail maintenance team, please contact Brian Watts at 754-2057.

Happy Trails.

Minden Women's Institute

On September 18, eighteen members and two guests were present at the Library/Cultural Centre for the monthly meeting of Minden Women's Institute. The president welcomed the guests and thanked members for their help during the summer at our bake sales and in the display at the fair. She also welcomed Dot Woodcock, a life member from Bradford Branch, now disbanded.

The collections for penies for friendship and the card fund were taken and the report from card convener Irene Moore, who is in hospital at present, was read by Maud Coulter. A card was sent to Irene Moore with our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

The Victoria East District Executive meeting was reported by Alternate Gwen Cox. From this Jean Lacey and Mary Cox are V.E. leaders going to the Leaders' Decor Course. Jean Lacey also wants suggestions for Craft Days at Baddow Centre for all District Branches. The District executive are to make arrangements for ways to area convention, November 13-14. There may be a workshop later with West Victoria branches. There is to be a special tree planting and craft day in the spring.

The President welcomed Judy Dickson, chairman of the board of directors of St. John's Ambulance from Fenelon Falls unit. She spoke of courses available as to Home Care. Her talk was interesting and informative. Maud Coulter then thanked her and gave her a gift and we all joined in the applause. We may consider having a course but will decide at our next meeting.

After the adjournment we enjoyed the lunch served by the committee and drew the raffle for the braided rug. The winner was Norah Briggs.

The next meeting will be October 16 at the Staunworth Terrace location with all ladies welcome.

Your support is needed now

Well the Chamber office manages to stay open, saved at the last minute by a much needed cash infusion. It is enough to get us by... maybe until the end of December. The Board with the exception of Godfrey Tyler voted unanimously to keep the doors open on a limited staffing basis. We hope to co-ordinate those volunteers who called my office. We will need your help as soon as we can get it organized.

The 11th hour injection of cash doesn't solve our long term funding needs. Godfrey's objection was that he felt we needed time to assess where our money is coming from and set up commitments before carrying on. I agree in principle with that thought but it is more vital to do what ever is possible to keep going. The operation of the Chamber, the phone calls, visits, referrals for accommodation, restaurants and service for this County is just too critical in the middle of the recession to be worrying about the finer points. County made a sincere, concerned effort to help. It is now up to the Business Community to respond. Most members have renewed their memberships however, if you are one of the ones that haven't paid your 1991 membership yet but have enjoyed all the rights to membership until now, (you were billed late last winter) then please do the honourable thing and pay up your membership. Your membership runs on the calendar year and was really due last winter. It is also encouraging that new members are continuing to join. If you are in business somewhere in this County then your business has and will benefit directly or indirectly from the activities of this Chamber. You may not agree with everything the Chamber has done or represents however, your voice and opinion still is needed. The alternative of no Chamber at all could mean all the responsibility of promoting this County and your business would fall to an expanded Body of County Civil Servant notwithstanding the pros and cons of that specter is the knowledge that it would cost a lot more than whatever your Chamber membership costs now. The County has expressed confidence in us. It is now up to us to all pitch in.

Dorset acid rain report

The following report on precipitation events was recorded at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period of September 8 to 14

September 9 3 mm of rain fell with a pH level of 4.2. The airpath was souther Lake Huron, southern Michigan and Indiana.

September 10 there were 5 mm of rain with a pH level of 4.5. Airpath was Lake Huron, northern Michigan and eastern Wisconsin.

On September 13, 4 mm of rain, 3.9 pH from Lake Huron and northern Michigan.

September 14 was quite something. 28mm of rain fell with a pH level of 4.3. The precipitation followed the airpath from southern Ontario and southern Michigan.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Want to lower your Electric Heating Bill and add Air Conditioning?
Consider a Heat Pump.

If your home is heated electrically, and you're thinking of adding air conditioning, take a look at heat pumps.

Many people have heard of heat pumps but aren't quite sure what they are or what they do. Quite simply, heat pumps use the same kind of technology as refrigerators. A fridge doesn't make cold air. It pumps out the warm air, leaving the inside of the fridge cool.

A heat pump works the same way. In the summer, it takes the heat out of your house to air condition it. In the winter it reverses itself to extract the heat from the outside air and transfer it into your house. (Even in winter, there is lots of heat in the air.)

On top of all this, a heat pump will cut your electric heating bill by up to 30%. Unlike traditional heating systems, a heat pump doesn't consume energy to produce heat. It needs energy only for its fans and compressor.

Call us for more information on heat pumps.

Do we have the time to turn things around?

For three weeks I have been ensconced in a cabin built on a spectacular part of the British Columbia coast. It has no phone, TV, mail or fax (and my laptop computer inexplicably died the moment I turned it on). Escaping infoglut and the hyperstimulation of city life is vital to my health and perspective but even in that retreat, the global ecocrisis can't be avoided.

CBC radio gave me plenty of information to cogitate environmental matters.

Two foreign vessels collided off the coast of B.C. and oil is still leaking out of the sunken Japanese ship. We have no control over structural and navigation standards of foreign ships and crews in international waters yet their spills affect all marine coasts. Little effort is spent on prevention or containment because it's cheaper to let accidents happen and simply allow the planet to absorb the debris that's spilled.

Another old growth forest in the Walbran Valley on Vancouver Island is slated for logging by the foreign multinational company, Fletcher Challenge. Environmentalists want to protect the integrity of all the Walbran and its neighbor, the Carmanah Valley. Teenagers arrested for trying to stop a logging road into the Walbran remind us that neither Canada nor the provinces have a fundamental land ethic, a comprehensive plan to sustain renewable resources and biodiversity or a blueprint for wilderness preservation.

In the Queen Charlotte Islands, the Haida have implemented a plan to manage and protect the salmon resources around their land. Commercial fishermen and most sport fishing outfits are participating but three large lodges have refused. The Haida are trying to drive the largest lodge from the islands and one leader was arrested.

This local skirmish exposes the sham of government "resource management." Scientists do not know all the significant factors impinging on an affecting fish populations. Yet "experts" make policy recommendations as if they do and then their suggestions are accepted, rejected or changed for POLITICAL reasons.

In contrast, traditional people like the Haida have a body of knowledge that is not based on theory or politics but the practical needs of immediate and long-term survival. The Haida can't be any worse than the current "management" schemes that are driven by economics and politics.

I spent a lot of time talking to my nearest neighbor, Dan Leclerc, an elder who has lived in the area all his life, logging, building boats and fishing. He told me that in the '20s and '30s, large herring-like fish called pilchards were the basis of a thriving fishery, but in the '40s, they vanished. When Dan was a boy, herring were raked off kelp beds and could fill a rowboat in minutes. Today, herring are smaller, harder to find and clearly being pushed by roe and sport fisheries toward extinction.

Ratfish, ancient relatives of sharks, were once abundant and

by David Suzuki

their livers used as a source for fine lubricating oil. Now "you don't see them around," Dan observed.

It's the same with large lingcod which were once plentiful and readily caught only a few years ago.

But I felt real fear when Dan reported his latest fishing trip. "There's no coho," he told me, referring to the most popular salmon for sport fishers. "And we didn't see any juveniles coming along to replace them."

A few days later, a news report corroborated him - cohoes taken to date are only four per cent of the number caught by this time last year.

Where have they gone? The experts have no idea.

As I returned to Vancouver, the radio reported that Atlantic cod are vanishing. Fishermen have caught less than 20 per cent of last year's take, and that was a very poor year.

For years people have been warning that we can't go on acting as if nature is limitless in its resources and capacity to absorb our wastes. Could the complex web of life in the oceans, the very source of life itself, suddenly falter?

Back in Vancouver at a supermarket I am overwhelmed by the abundance and variety that have become the measure of our quality of life and made necessary by an economy that must endlessly expand. Waiting for a bus to the office, I despair at the senselessness of the stream of cars carrying one person to and from work.

There are too many of us and we are using far too much. But do we have the time or the will to turn things around? Perhaps we should ask the pilchards, the coho and the cod.

Before the winter heating season starts CONSIDER THIS:

"I can tell you truthfully that (heating) oil is at 1984 prices... I think it's the only sensible alternative to resistance (electrical) heat"

John Butt, executive director of the Canadian Oil Heat Association

as quoted in a recent Toronto Star Article

Heating with oil is looking better. Before the cold weather gets here, why not look into making the switch now. Ask about our special incentives to help you make the change to oil heat - quickly, efficiently and inexpensively.

Residents enjoy bus trips

Sunday evening, September 1, Rev. John Burgess resumed holding Sunday evening services after his illness. We were glad to have him back. He also held the service September 8 with Alice Jones at the organ. Thank you both.

September 2, being the holiday, two tables of euchre were organized in the auditorium for those who would enjoy playing cards.

Tuesday morning chapel service was conducted by Father Brian Parker and September 10 by Pastor Jim Fast. We thank you both very much.

In the afternoon, Terry Barnum drove the bus and we went to Kirkfield Lift Locks via Coboconk and home by Norland where we stopped for an ice cream bar as a break in our tour. Linda Fry and Cindy Wright took excellent care of all of us.

September 4, Terry took me to my sister's in Peterborough for four days. I had dinner at my great nephew's

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

birthday, went to see a new addition to the family (a baby boy), shopping and sightseeing. Sunday, May, Roy, Jackie and Missy brought me home. We went to Apsley on our way home to see Kevin and Claudia for tea. The leaves were beautiful.

Monday, September 9, residents' council was held in the auditorium. There was a good number present and much was accomplished. We appreciate the attendance of administrator Rheta Jones and D.O.N. Marsha Thomas.

Tuesday, Linda Fry held a discussion session. Linda read a happening, like in Ann Landers' column. We each expressed our opinion of the way the problem should be solved, then Linda gave us the original answer. It makes you think.

Wednesday nursing and activities worked together to take the bed residents for an outing on the bus: those who had not been out on it. In the morning they went to Kawartha Dairy for ice cream cones. In the afternoon to the park.

Wednesday evening, Kathy Owens and Don White were here to entertain us with piano, violin and accordion music. We enjoyed it very much and thank them immensely.

Dianna Morris came a six o'clock to read for us. We surely look for her to read to us.

Thursday, as usual, was tea party. The Anglican Church women provided a delicious tea which everyone enjoyed and then Lorraine Campbell played the piano while the whole group sang. There were nine present, Gladys Crego, Dorothy and Gladys Anderson, Win Wilson, Joan Hayans, Joyce Hill, Marion Scott and Audrey Silvers. Thanks greatly.

Nancy Briggs and Mary Beaver conducted the bingo in the evening. Thanks. There were ten present.

Friday was Happy Hour and the entertainment was provided by Doris on the piano and the regular volunteers, Ellen Holden, Bonnie Fullan, Mary Guilleman accompanying her with singing old favourite songs. Don Holden was bar tender. The residents and friends thank everyone.

Friday evening, the Grandfathers Three, Bill Payne, Eldon Deacon and Don Burch were here and we all had a very pleasant evening listening to their good and varied music. Thank you grandfathers, come again when possible.

This is one of our many birthday months. We especially extend a Happy Birthday to Mrs. Isabella Eastman on her 102nd birthday. She is a wonderful lady. I believe she can sing or recite any hymn you care to mention. We also have Gladys Kirkpatrick September 10, Nancy Carefoot, September 12, Garnet Ash September 14 and Annie Jones on September 15. More to come in my next column.

Our sympathy goes out to all the relatives and friends of Alfred Richardson who passed away September 2, 1991.

IN MEMORIAM

BRISCOE: In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Fred, who passed away Sept., 24, 1990. What would we give to clasp his hand
His happy face to see
To hear his voice & see his smile
That meant so much to me.
Always remembered
Freda and family.

HARRISON: In loving memory of a dear sister-in-law Laura Harrison who passed away Sept., 29, 1984 also a dear brother-in-law who left us June 17, 1990. Resting where no shadows fall In peaceful sleep they await us all,
God will mend the broken chain,
When one by one we will meet again.
Lovingly remembered by Alice.

Good Bye and Thanks!

Good bye is such a hard word to say, especially when you're saying it to a town like Minden, and the fine people in it.....

Laury's Café CLOSED ITS DOORS ON SEPTEMBER 20, 1991

And it is not without some sadness that I take this opportunity to thank the people of Minden for all their support these past years..... especially those I affectionately call my "regulars" whose loyalty and patronage will never be forgotten.

Your warm smiles...your cheery hellos...will remain in my heart forever!

One again...Good Bye...And Thanks!
